Extension Office offers babysitter training for grades 6-12

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, JUNE 2, 2017:

NEW BRAUNFELS — Area youth looking for summer work can burnish their resumes by taking advantage of babysitting classes offered this month by the Comal County office of the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service.

A class for beginners (entering grades 6-8) will be 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday, June 14, with an advanced class for high schoolers 1-4 p.m. the same day. Both classes will be in the Extension Office meeting room, 325 Resource Drive, New Braunfels.

The classes cost $20 for the general public and $10 for 4-H members. The registration and payment deadline is Friday, June 9. Call Wanda Austin at 830-620-3440 to register.

“These classes will be fun and educational,” said Krystal Snider, extension agent for health education. “Students will learn CPR, child development, nutrition, business basics and other topics that will not only help keep children safe, but make their babysitting business more attractive to prospective clients.”
