Extension offers opportunity to explore 4-H

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, SEPTEMBER 6, 2019:

NEW BRAUNFELS — Parents and children interested in enrolling in Comal County 4-H can learn more at an Explore 4-H open house at the county's Extension Office this month.

The come-and-go event will be 9 a.m. – 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, at the Comal County office of the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, 325 Resource Drive, New Braunfels.

Comal County 4-H is open to county residents ages 8 and older in third through 12th grades. It includes project areas ranging from meat science, forestry and beef cattle to dog care and training, fashion and interior design, photography and video, and more.

“Each student gets to decide what opportunities to explore in 4-H,” said Victoria Grissom, Comal County extension agent for 4-H and youth development. “There are almost unlimited opportunities for students to grow, learn and enrich their lives through 4-H.”

4-H is the largest youth development program in Texas, reaching more than 550,000 youth each year and providing hands-on experience, numerous activities and competitions at the local, regional and state levels, and the opportunity to develop lifelong friendships.

“We’re looking forward to welcoming any students and parents interested in 4-H to the Extension Office so they can learn more about it,” Grissom said. “We’re excited to show them what a great program 4-H is and how it can make a difference in their lives.”
