Extension offers holiday classes at libraries

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, NOVEMBER 15, 2019:

NEW BRAUNFELS — The holiday season is here, and the Comal County Extension Office wants to make sure you're prepared.

The Comal County office of the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service is offering free classes on gifts from the kitchen and jams and jellies in the coming weeks at branches of the New Braunfels Public Library.

“The end of the year provides so many opportunities to tell your loved ones how much they mean to you in unique, memorable ways,” said Connie Sheppard, extension agent for family and community health with the Comal County Extension Office. “These classes are a great way to learn how to give some special people a special gift without too much money or stress.”

First, residents can learn how to start a new family tradition and make gifts from their kitchen for family and friends. This make-and-take class will include bath and food items from 6:30-8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 21, at the library's main branch, 700 E. Common St. To register, visit <https://nbtexas.libcal.com/event/5612790> or call the library at 830-221-4300.

Then on Monday, Dec. 9, residents can learn the basics of creating unique jellies and jams for holiday giving, and students will each take home a sample jelly. The class will be 11 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. at Westside Community Center, 2932 S. IH-35. To register, visit <https://nbtexas.libcal.com/event/5565493> or call 830-221-4630.
